Property Description

The real new luxury of today is nature. As the name says, it is a huge and beautiful 632 acre property located in what is already one of the most desirable areas in the South Pacific. This property is strategically located to develop a home where the owners can have all the attractions of the area close by. At 20 minutes we have the airport and the marina of Quepos. And 5 minutes more and you are in the most visited national park in the country, known as Manuel Antonio. To the south, just 15 minutes away is Dominical and all the attractions that this area has to offer. Also consider that the golf course located in Ojochal is less than 45 minutes away. Thanks to the fact that this property is bordered by a public road, you have the advantage of being able to develop and build a large part of it. Where you can build from a Retreat Center (with the sound of more than 20 waterfalls, some of them up to 30 meters high), a residential development or a condominium complex.
